

Kagawa University English Haiku Contest

We are happy to announce the Kagawa University Haiku Contest for 2020. Participants may write their haiku in English on any topic. The winning haiku will be uploaded to the Kagawa University homepage, and also will be published in an online haiku column. Why don't you give it a try?

Submission Due Date: November 9th (Mon)

*All students are eligible to participate in this event

What to Submit: Haiku in English

How to Submit: Google Form

<https://forms.gle/wyssgBRG5tB5qM5MA>

Judges:

Susan Antolin: Ms. Antolin is an accomplished haikuist living in Northern California. She is the editor of Acorn, a haiku journal, and her latest book, The Years that Went Missing, was the winner of the Backbone Press haiku chapbook contest in 2020. She once lived in Tokyo.

Ian Willey: Dr. Willey is an associate professor in the Higher Education Center of Kagawa University. He enjoys writing haiku and senryu and other forms of poetry and has been published in many books and journals.

Awards: Book coupons up to 3,000 yen

Winners will be announced on November 30, 2020 (Mon).

An awards ceremony & haiku presentation will be held on December 5, 2020 (Sat), on the same date as the Kagawa University English Presentation Contest.

The winning haiku will also be uploaded to the Kagawa University website and an online haiku column.

Information about haiku in English can be found on the Global Café website, Facebook, Twitter and LINE. Please contact Ms. Lino Toyoda if you would like to see the orientation video and slides.

Inquiries

Global Café Administrator Lino TOYODA

✉ globalcafe@kagawa-u.ac.jp

☎: 087-832-1318