This graduation exhibition should be a "IKKI" of first-year students.
The penguins who jump out of the flock and jump into the dangerous sea
in search of food to live are called "first penguins", we first-year students were just first penguins.
A curriculum while exploring a field of design that the university has no experience with.
Where do we aim and who will we be, without a back to chase?
We think it was an uncertain four years,
while following the path we believed in and adventuring.
And now is the last chance to sublimate that frustration into an imagination and explode it.
This is a "IKKI" of a first-year student.
What happens after this movement is a small change or a big change?
As the sun rises, anxiety and thoughts are illuminated, fluttering and inspiring us.
